Future research

cinematic vision!

Science meets Vision

Future technology and societal needs – bring both together, create your vision of the future and submit a short film to one of our competition categories:

1. Foresight Update

We are looking for filmic answers to urgent questions concerning our future. Show us your vision, told from a societal or technological standpoint or as a combination of both. In this category, there aren't any subject requirements. We are curious about your future scenario. How do you want or expect life to be in about 10 or 20 years?

2. City, Country, Interspace

WHERE will we live in the future? In megacities with skyscrapers, stretching for miles? On the flat countryside in self-supporting communities? In small towns digitally connected to the whole world? Let's discuss the potentials, problems, innovations and individual needs concerning this very existential field. It's up to you whether you choose a technological, architectural standpoint or if you focus on human wants and needs. Time to discuss future spaces!
